MOOD:  overdressed?

MUSIC: Robyn Hitchcock - Full Moon in My Soul

But I believe I have something like this in a box at the back of the closet. (<https://www.livejournal.com/away?to=http%3A//www.chainmail.com/chainmail/images/hdtrot3.jpg>)

The one on the right. Less elaborate, but in dark-finished steel with hematite beads. (I told you--I used to be in the SCA.)

I also have a long black stretch velvet hobble skirt and a dark gray vintage silk top-y thing with velvet man-eating flowers on it. (They look man-eating, anyway.)

But shoes, hmm. Ballet flats, or lineman's boots (<https://www.livejournal.com/away?to=http%3A//www.boot.com/bbblin.shtml>).

Whatcha think? Will you guys admit you're with me?

Thank you

Two advantages to boots: more comfortable for walking on sidewalks (ooh, and also warmer feet), and they kind of say that I'm not taking the girly parts seriously.

Honestly, I feel really self-conscious about fancy and girly and stuff.

If I'm wearing eyeliner, you're wearing lineman's boots.

Yah, the equivalent to you in the eyeliner is me in the skirt. But I'm goin' for it. g

I'm going to look like a dork. But I'm going to have fun anyway.

Wabbit's going to come up with some last-minute story. Bets?

Ogawd, he'd never get it off in time for Monday a.m.

Mom would stare. Dad would PASS OUT.

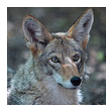

That would be worth it right there.

Because that ever stopped you every other time?

You know what? You can do whatever the hell you want to me on Sunday night. Make me look as ridiculous as possible.

I am so totally cool with it it's not funny. There's not a girl in the place who would look at me anyway, so I may as well costume up and have fun.
